4. Comments:

- 4.1) Please identify what you perceive to be the real strengths and weaknesses of this teaching assistant and course.
- Great course and great instructor.
 - He is very good at explaining course material that might've been left out of the main lectures or that wasn't very well explained.
 - Soonhong Cho was my favorite TA from the classes I've taken so far. His discussion sections always went in depth on the topics we went over during lecture and were even more helpful than the lecture presentations. He also made practice problems for us after each section, and they were really helpful in getting us to understand the lesson more thoroughly as well as in preparation for our exams. Though the class at times could be a bit confusing, Cho made sure to be extremely thorough and detailed in his lessons. His section notes were really helpful as well, and they made working on the homework and reviewing a lot easier. Cho always responded quickly to my emails, whether this be asking for clarification on the homework or details about the class. He also would take it a step further by describing why certain topics that we are learning were relevant to the real world, which made the class more engaging and interesting. I think I would have struggled a lot more in this class if it wasn't for Cho, and I was able to learn a lot through him. I am grateful that I had Cho as my TA.
 - Soonhong is great. Very helpful and very understanding!
 - Soonhong was a great asset to my learning in this class. He was able to go over anything us students were confused about during the lecture. You could also say that he valued our learning as he had prepared a lesson plan and practice problems for us each week, which helped me on multiple occasions. Due to Soonhong's ability to help me facilitate my learning I believe I was able to get a higher grade in the class than if I did not have his help.
 - Strengths were that the material given in section successfully expanded on lectures from the class. Weakness is that the pace of each section was little fast.
 - Strengths: knowledgeable about course material, clearly passionate about what he is teaching
Weakness: failed to foster active student participation, I know this is harder to do over zoom but I often felt that I was the only one participating in section
 - The TA was the reason I understood all of the material. There was nothing that could've been done better as it was all simply excellent.

- 4.1) Please identify what you perceive to be the real strengths and weaknesses of this teaching assistant and course.
- A strength was how well prepared he was at each discussion. It was very helpful to see him work through problems on the screen. I don't think I would have made it through the class without this TA. He was very patient with questions and was very good at helping all the students understand the course material.
- A weakness was just that I wish he recorded discussion and posted it on the TA website. I feel like this would have been very helpful so that I could go back and see how he worked through the problems at a later time when reviewing for a midterm or final or homework assignments in general. Other than that he was overall an amazing TA. Thank you so much!
- Awesome helper
 - Cho did a fantastic job with the class. I learned almost all the material from his teaching and thorough worksheets that he provided to us. His lectures were also 10 times more clear than those of the professor. He also provided excellent feedback on the homework and graded us fairly. This man deserves recognition for his outstanding work.
 - Cho did a great job with going through and working out examples during section, I found that really helpful.
 - Cho is cool, and he teaches the material pretty well. I just wish his office hours weren't on a Friday
 - Soonhong was a great TA and his discussion sections were always very helpful.
 - TA did a great job providing students with relevant materials and preparing us for exams and quizzes.
 - The TA was clearly knowledgeable of the subject and was very organized and prepared for discussions, but he needs to learn that in a discussion, you need to let the students speak and answer questions. He rarely let students talk during sections and always answered his own questions before students got the chance to answer.
 - This TA was very knowledgeable about the course material and explained course concepts in ways that were easy to understand. He was always very welcoming and accommodating. I cannot identify any real weaknesses with this TA.

- This was by far my best section this quarter. I often felt that I did not thoroughly understand the course material as presented during lecture, Cho did an amazing job of teaching the course material in a way that filled the gaps of lectures. He took care to make sure we understood the concepts as we went through them as well as providing additional opportunities for practice on each concept that we went over. I am very thankful for this section and I credit it for my understanding of the material and my success in this class.

- 4.1) Please identify what you perceive to be the real strengths and weaknesses of this teaching assistant and course.
- I think you did a great job presenting the material and I also appreciated you giving us ungraded example problems. Thank you for a great class!
 - My TA's most valuable strength was his willingness to help his students and always ensure their concerns were resolved. I believe an area of improvement would be to better expand on course ideas.
 - Soonhong makes sure that everyone gets the concept by explaining in a way that is easily comprehensible yet logical. His section notes and practice examples are extremely helpful.
 - Soonhong was a great TA. I really liked how he got right to the point each discussion, not wasting any time. By being efficient, Soonhong was able to cover a variety of material in a short discussion section, which was very helpful. I highly recommend Soonhong.
 - Soonhong was an amazing TA. He always came to discussion enthusiastic and prepared. He was also very easy to get a hold of and made sure everyone was able to follow along during sections. One thing he could improve on is including some more conceptual practice problems, as well as the practice problems he already gave students.
 - TA was helpful in discussion.
 - The strengths of T.A. Cho were his openness and fluidity to questions that would come up. The lecturing professor (Professor Barry) was disorganized and had typos every class which severely impacted my learning. However T.A. Cho was able to clear these up in the best way he could. He was also accommodating with allowing us to have our cameras off which could not have been easy for him as he was talking to blank screens but he continued to push through despite it all. He was the best T.A. I had this quarter, I want to thank you for your patience and guidance and hope you do well going into the future. Best of luck.
